

Lee offers special help to former students of ITT Tech

BAYTOWN, TX — Lee College is ready to assist former students of ITT Technical Institute who want to continue their education following the recent closure of ITT Tech campuses in the Houston area and around the country.

Advisors and counselors are available to help former ITT Tech students learn how to transfer to Lee College, access financial aid, register for classes and get back on track to completing their degree. Potential program options include Computer-Aided Drafting and Design Technology, Electrical Technology, Paralegal Studies, Accounting Technology and Computer and Network Maintenance Technology, among others.

Additional details about Lee College's assistance for former students of ITT Tech — including contact information for key offices on campus and links to the application for admission, academic catalog and campus calendar — are available online.
